North Carolina WETLANDS PASSPORT

www.ncwetlands.org

NCwetlands.org is an outreach project of the North Carolina Division of Water Resources, with funding from the US Environmental Protection Agency. Passport created in 2018.

We are excited that you are joining us on a North Carolina wetland journey! We hope this passport will help you find wetlands you've never seen before or help you reconnect with wetlands you may have forgotten. This passport will unlock the door to your future wetland adventures in North Carolina - in wetlands right next door or wetlands on the opposite side of the state. Let your North Carolina wetland adventure begin!

What is in the passport:

This passport lists and maps over 220 publicly accessible wetlands across North Carolina. Sites are listed alphabetically by ecoregion (Mountain, Piedmont, and Coastal Plain) with address information provided. Wetland sites are numbered in the order listed and shown on a centerfold map (pages 6-7).

To find a wetland site:

Use the centerfold map to find a site number in an area you want to visit; then, find that number in the numerical list to learn the wetland site name and location.

OR

Use the alphabetical list of wetland site names to search for a known wetland site; then, use the number to find the location on the map. (Note: if you do not know which ecoregion the site is in, you may need to search all three ecoregion site lists to find the name.)

Be safe:

Have fun on your wetland adventures, but also be safe. When possible, contact the location to confirm hours of operation. While these wetlands are publicly accessible, there may be guidelines and restrictions at some of the sites. Be sure to follow all guidelines and signage at a wetland site.

Many of these wetlands are located on state game lands which are open to hunting and gates may be closed during parts of the year. It is always a good idea to familiarize yourself with dates of hunting seasons and wear blaze orange on game lands.

Also remember, these are natural areas with wildlife and sometimes rough terrain. Dress accordingly, take sunscreen and insect repellent, and always be aware of your surroundings! Mostly...HAVE FUN!

Know before you go — interactive map:

Familiarize yourself with the site and how to get there. Some sites require 4-wheel drive vehicles and some have very rough walking conditions. For some sites, you can view wetlands from your vehicle or bike. Visit our interactive map (at www.ncwetlands.org) to learn more about each site on the passport map, including activities available, how to find the wetlands, types of wetlands on site, links to photos, etc. The website also contains lots of information about North Carolina's beautiful wetlands.

What are some exciting things you might see on your NC wetland adventure?

The wide variety of wetlands in North Carolina (basin, bog, Carolina bay, estuarine woody, freshwater marsh, non-riverine swamp forest, pine, pocosin, riverine forest, salt/brackish marsh, and seep) provide excellent habitat for many different plants and animals. Stay alert as you walk quietly by or through a wetland; if you are lucky, you may get to see:

- Venus flytraps (carnivorous)
- Pitcher plants (carnivorous)
- Sundews (carnivorous)
- Bladderwort (carnivorous)
- Cypress trees (up to 1,000 years old!)
- Variety of other plants
- Butterflies
- Dragonflies
- Frogs (leopard, tree, chorus, etc.)
- Salamanders
- Snakes (water, black, moccasin, etc.)
- Turtles (slider, snapping, bog, etc.)
- Shellfish (clams, mussels, oysters, etc.)
- Fish
- Migratory and nesting birds
- Wading and aquatic birds (herons, egrets, ducks, etc.)
- Raccoons
- Beaver
- Bear
- White-tailed deer
- River otters
- Feral pigs
